THE AIRBORNE AND SPECIAL OPERATIONS MUSEUM LAUNCHES ROLL CALL

FORT BRAGG, N.C. – The Airborne and Special Operations Museum has launched the only permanent archive and Internet service that preserves the shared history of both active-duty and veteran airborne and special operations soldiers.

The tremendous contributions and sacrifices soldiers have made and continue to make for America's freedom is a part of history that is too important to be forgotten.

Active-duty soldiers and veterans can record their Army and post military experience for future generations to come. The interactive computer database provides basic historical information accessible through the Roll Call database online and through two touch screen computers in the museum lobby.

From now until Dec. 31, 2003, active-duty and veterans can enroll for free. The normal charge is $25. Enroll at www.asomf.org.
